Important hint for team principals:

Do NOT register all your drivers with just one team email – otherwise DMSB system gets confused!

One driver = one email

Don't even think about to do the E-learning job instead of your driver - every race up to 20 driver are random chosen to repeat E-Learning personally on spot under observation by stewarts of the meeting. If they fail their permit will be withdrawn.

Unit 1: Flag Signals Nordschleife

Assignment

Description:
In this unit, you will get familiar with the significance of the flag signals which will be used at the Nordschleife in race events for which a DPN is mandatory and in RCN events. The work of the track safety marshals (marshals) will furthermore be explained. They will communicate with you using the various flag signals and by indicating to you dangerous situations.

Preface:
In contrast to conventional race tracks, the marshals at the Nordschleife do not have direct radio connection to Race Control. Due to the high number of these marshal posts (about 200 marshal-posts), it is furthermore not possible to control them centrally from Race Control. In addition, there is no continuous video coverage at the Nordschleife. The marshals at the Nordschleife must hence evaluate situations independently and react correctly on their own responsibility.
It is reminded that the marshals normally have to be on duty at the track in all weather conditions and over many hours, unprotected from wind and weather, and they must observe a field of nearly 200 automobiles and react properly. On account of the long race duration and the various different situations, inadequate decision may occur in single and rare cases, just as you as race driver may sometimes make mistakes. You are kindly invited to perform a self-experiment and join any such marshal post to observe their work. You will afterwards definitely appreciate their work and their contribution for our sport very much.

Area of application of the flag signals:
The flag signals at the Nordschleife comply with the FIA guidelines, these flag signals are defined by the DMSB in the Appendix H to the International Sporting Code. There are, however, a few particularities at the Nordschleife, such as the Code60 provision which is explained in greater detail in the following items.

In daylight, signals will be given by means of flags of different colours which are supplemented by light signals or, in certain circumstances, be replaced by these signals.

In the night, flags may be replaced by lights and reflecting boards but the drivers must be previously informed hereof. For competitions running in the night, yellow lights will be shown at each post.

Each flag signal takes effect as soon as you pass the post, which means from the moment when you are on the same level as the post and not when you see the flag.
